INVITATION

WWF and GIZ invite you to attend an important event at COP24

Creating Space for Biodiversity, Ecosystem Services, and Infrastructure in a Rapidly Warming World

SYNOPSIS

Join WWF and GIZ for a lively panel discussion on a new approach to improving strategic planning for infrastructure development:

- How are countries navigating upstream planning to integrate climate risks and the benefits of nature at the earliest possible stages of economic development planning? How is this central to meeting country commitments to NDCs and NAPs?
- How are financing institutions, NGOs, and the private sector working to innovate through these challenges to close the infrastructure gap and build social and ecological resilience at scales that matter?

A one hour discussion will be followed by a reception with light food.
